

TRACKING CHARLES DICKENS : A CHRONOLOGY OF HIS WHEREABOUTS

Previous Dickens chronologies have focused on his life and works : this one does not attempt to repeat their work, but to supplement them by recording where he was at any given date.

Dickens did not leave a set of appointment diaries, but fortunately he did leave a lifetime of letters, pinpointing at the head both the date and place of composition. This chronology is based on that information as published in the awesome Pilgrim Edition of his letters published by the Oxford University Press. The source of each entry in the chronology is identified.

There are more than 14,000 letters in Pilgrim, giving a wealth of detail for the chronology. Many of the letters, of course, were written from his home or office, but he was an indefatigable traveller, and in the evening he still somehow found the energy to write one from his hotel room. Even so, there are inevitably many dates with no letter, and some of those gaps have been (and will be) filled from information in the letters themselves, and from other reliable sources.
