COPYRIGHT DECISION TREE

SFU employees have the responsibility to abide by Canada’s Copyright Act and by the University’s own copyright policies. This decision tree will help you determine whether you can use a copyright protected work in the way you would like to.

1. IS THE WORK PROTECTED BY COPYRIGHT?
   - Material not protected by copyright includes material in the public domain and material lacking in creativity or originality such as data, facts or ideas. The FAQs at copyright.sfu.ca can help you.
   - NO → USE THE WORK
   - YES → ARE YOU THE CREATOR OF THE WORK?
     - If so, do you own copyright in the work? Or have you retained the right to use it for this purpose, or to use a different version (e.g. a pre-print)?
     - NO → USE THE WORK AND COMPLY WITH CONDITIONS OF LICENSE
     - YES → USE THE WORK OR THE SPECIFIC VERSION ALLOWED

2. WHAT DO YOU WANT TO DO WITH THE WORK? IS THE WORK LICENSED FOR THIS TYPE OF USE?
   - (e.g. Library license, Open Access, Creative Commons)
   - NO → FIND A DIFFERENT SOURCE FOR THE SAME WORK WITHOUT THERESTRICTION OR GO HERE
   - YES → FIND A DIFFERENT SOURCE FOR THE SAME WORK WITHOUT TPM (E.G. SCAN A PRINT VERSION INSTEAD OF DOWNLOADING A PDF) OR GO HERE

3. IS THERE A LICENSING AGREEMENT OR STATEMENT SPECIFICALLY DISALLOWING THIS USE OF THE WORK?
   - (e.g. website terms of use, restrictions on Library license)
   - NO → USE THE WORK AND COMPLY WITH CONDITIONS IN THE ACT
   - YES → DOES FAIR DEALING OR ANOTHER COPYRIGHT ACT EXCEPTION APPLY?
     - See the Instructors section at copyright.sfu.ca for what you can do with copyright protected works for teaching purposes, or contact the Copyright Office (copy@sfu.ca) with any questions.

4. IS THE WORK PROTECTED BY A TECHNOLOGICAL PROTECTION MEASURE (TPM)?
   - (e.g. password or download-blocker)
   - NO → FIND A DIFFERENT SOURCE FOR THE SAME WORK WITHOUT TPM (E.G. SCAN A PRINT VERSION INSTEAD OF DOWNLOADING A PDF) OR GO HERE
   - YES → USE THE WORK AND COMPLY WITH CONDITIONS OF LICENSE

IF YOU ARE UNABLE TO USE THIS MATERIAL, YOU COULD:
- ask the copyright holder for permission to use the work in this way,
- adapt the material, repurpose the data in your own way or paraphrase (with attribution in each case),
- provide a link to the work instead,
- remove the work, or
- use a different work.

All works must be legally obtained. Works must be properly cited. 07/2019

Copyright and Teaching

Textual Materials
- You can copy up to 10% of the work OR:
  - 1 chapter from a book
  - 1 article from a journal issue
  - 1 article or page from a newspaper issue
  - 1 entry from a reference work (e.g., encyclopedia, dictionary).

Audio and Video
- You can copy up to 10% of the work OR 1 track from an album, as long as you are not breaking a technological protection measure (TPM*).

Images
- You can copy 1 image from a compilation (e.g., coffee table book, atlas) OR up to 10% of a stand-alone image (e.g., painting, poster, wall map). You cannot copy an entire stand-alone image.

Internet Materials
- You can copy a short excerpt up to the fair dealing limits according to the type of media.

Using a Short Excerpt?
Follow these fair dealing guidelines.

Want to Use More?
Use one of these exceptions from the Copyright Act.

If You Don't See Your Use on This Chart Contact
The SFU Copyright Office for Assistance.

Examples of technological protection measures (TPM) include passwords and regional encoding.

SFU employees are responsible for abiding by Canada's Copyright Act and the University's copyright policies.

Under fair dealing you may copy or distribute a short excerpt of a copyright protected work for the purposes of research, private study, education, parody, satire, criticism, review or news reporting as a:
- class handout
- email message
- posting in Canvas
- part of a course pack sold through the SFU Bookstore.

Copying multiple short excerpts from the same copyright protected work, with the intention of reproducing amounts beyond the fair dealing limits, is prohibited.

Licences for online resources govern how they can be used. See Article Databases and A-Z Journals on the SFU Library website.

These guidelines apply to teaching at SFU only. All works copied must be legally obtained. Works must be properly cited.

Scenario 1: a book chapter
5. Users' Rights

If this book had been written a decade ago, the title of this chapter would not be "Users' Rights." It would probably be something like "Exceptions to Infringement: Fair Dealing and Other Defences." Until recently, fair dealing was not considered more than a fairly long-shot defence to allegations of infringement. After all, in Michelin v. CAW (1990), a case concerning the use of an unauthorized image of the Michelin Man on unionization posters, a court ruled that fair dealing provisions "should be restrictively interpreted as exceptions." The court asserted that using what it called "another's private property" to ground one's own original expression was "a prohibited form of expression."

But Théberge v. Galerie d'Art du Petit Champlain (2001) marked the beginning of a sea change. In this case, the Supreme Court held that the proper balance in copyright "lies not only in recognizing the creator's rights but in giving due weight to their limited nature. In crassly economic terms it

Want to Use More?
Use one of these exceptions from:
- You can reproduce the entire work for display in the classroom or for use in exams if a copy in the required format is not readily available.
- You can play the entire work (e.g. DVD, CD) in the classroom.
- You can reproduce the entire image for display in the classroom or for use in exams if a copy in the required format is not readily available.
- You can reproduce an entire work from the Internet as long as you are not breaking a TPM* and there is no “clearly visible notice”.
Collected creative works vs scholarly works

The 10% / 1 chapter fair dealing guideline does not apply to collected creative works. You can only copy up to 10% of an individual story/poem/play.

The 10% / 1 chapter fair dealing guideline does apply to collected scholarly works such as anthologies and edited collections of academic articles. You can copy an entire work from such a collection.
Posting fair dealing excerpts in Canvas

This item has been copied under the Fair Dealing provisions of the Copyright Act as enumerated in SFU Appendix R30.04A - Application of Fair Dealing under Policy R30.04. You may not distribute, e-mail or otherwise communicate these materials to any other person.

(This wording is available on copyright.sfu.ca > Instructors > Resources, under “Copyright tools and forms”)

USING A SHORT EXCERPT?
Follow these fair dealing guidelines.

- 10% of the work OR:

Options for more than 1 chapter/10%

Course packs (SFU Bookstore)
- Paper or digital
- Student-pay, cost-recovery model (student pays license and production cost, no profit)

SFU Copyright Clearance Fund
- For 1-2 readings that exceed fair dealing
- License cost paid by central SFU fund
- The Library makes the content available through Library Reserves
Licensing agreements

Open Access (OA):
• Up-front permission to copy, share, and use the work in certain ways
• Usually marked with a Creative Commons (CC) license
• In the Library catalogue, look for the orange open lock

Library subscriptions:
• Usually allow copying and use for teaching purposes
• Check the license details in the Library catalogue
Technological protection measures (TPMs)

TPMs that limit access:
- Passwords
- Subscriptions
- Time limits

TPMs that limit copying:
- Read-only
- Download blocking
- Watermarks
What to do when the textbook is late?

Digital copies of relevant material could be made available to students.

Student needs to have already purchased the textbook.

Digital copies should be delivered directly to student and not posted in LMS.

Student needs to be informed that the digital copies should be destroyed once the textbook arrives.
Scenario 2: images
Using Google Image search

• Use the Usage Rights filter to select only images with Creative Commons licenses
• Always go to the image’s original website and double check the license or terms of use!
Creative Commons licenses

- CC BY (Attribution)
- CC BY-SA (Attribution – Share Alike)
- CC BY-NC (Attribution – Non-Commercial)
- CC BY-ND (Attribution – No Derivatives)
- CC BY-NC-SA (Attribution – Non-Commercial – Share Alike)

USING A SHORT EXCERPT?
Follow these fair dealing guidelines.

You can copy up to 10% of the work OR:
• 1 chapter from a book
• 1 article from a journal issue
• 1 article or page from a newspaper issue
• 1 entry from a reference work (e.g. encyclopedia, dictionary).

WANT TO USE MORE?
Use one of these exceptions from the Copyright Act.

You can reproduce the entire work for display in the classroom or for use in exams if a copy in the required format is not readily commercially available.

You can play the entire work (e.g. DVD, CD) in the classroom.

You can copy up to 10% of the work OR 1 track from an album, as long as you are not breaking a technological protection measure (TPM*).

COPYING FROM THE INTERNET?
Read the terms and conditions of any websites you use.

Copying for class or personal study, criticism, review or research is legal if the following criteria are met:
• class or personal study
• email
• posting on a private blog
• part of a private recording

Licences:
Visit SFU Library’s Copyright guide at SFULibrary.ca/learn/permissions for more information.

These guidelines apply to works protected by copyright at SFU and may not be legal for works that are not properly copyrighted.

*Example of a TPM: digital rights management.
Internet materials

You can reproduce an entire work from the Internet as long as you are not breaking a TPM and there is no “clearly visible notice” prohibiting copying.

*Linking/embedding is always okay *unless subscription terms prohibit (e.g. HBR)

*Displaying web content live is always okay

*Content must be from legitimate websites!
Using images outside the classroom

• The Copyright and Teaching infographic is specifically for teaching
• Fair dealing may not apply in other situations
• Look for more open Creative Commons licenses (e.g., those that don’t prohibit commercial use)
• Consider purchasing (licensing) images for more public use
Scenario 3: showing a film in class
Subscription streaming services

The Netflix service and any content viewed through the service are for your personal and non-commercial use only and may not be shared with individuals beyond your household.

Amazon grants you a license to access and view the Digital Content for personal, non-commercial, private use.

The Disney+ Service is provided to individuals for their personal, noncommercial use only.
Library streaming options

• Is the streaming film already in our collection? Check the catalogue.

• If it isn’t, see https://www.lib.sfu.ca/about/branches-depts/mrc/streaming-video-service for details about requesting a streaming version.
Scenario 4: a YouTube video

What about your work?

Teaching: Instructors own copyright in their research and teaching materials (SFU Policy R30.03).

Publishing usually involves copyright transfer, but can be negotiable. You can choose to publish openly in order to encourage use of your work (see the SFU Library’s page Scholarly Publishing & Open Access).
